Chapter I

Unknown Is The Worst Feeling

Dating is hard. Not just the part about meeting someone who interests you, but in learning how to get a relationship off the ground. There are just so many differences between men and women that it can be like two alien species trying to decide what to have for dinner when they don't speak the same language, or even digest food the same way.

And what about the worries, the fear, the downright devastation when he doesn't call when you really want him to? We have all been there!

We have all locked ourselves away and said "never again!" all because some guy we're interested in suddenly stopped calling.

It's time to get past that. It's time to make dating fun again without dreading the worst-case scenario.

It's time to learn how to be the one in charge of your own destiny. It's time to get exactly what you want from your dating life, and not settle for a guy who will get you nowhere!

1 Few Things Are Worse

In the dating game, few things are worse than meeting a guy you really like, who gets your number and then never calls. You can spend many sleepless nights wondering why he hasn't dialed your number, especially when he seemed so interested when you were face-to-face.

You start wondering about what happened, what you did wrong, what was so awful about you that he didn't call at all.

Here's the idea: Sometimes, it's his fault.

Sometimes he forgets. Sometimes he just asks for your number to be polite. And sometimes, you just run into those "pick-up artists" whose sole purpose in life is to gather as many women's numbers as they can.

But at other times, it's OUR fault!

We have certain behaviors and bad habits that send off the wrong signals to the men we meet. These behaviors and habits make the guys think, "Okay, she's not really my type."

That is what you are going to learn by reading this book: Not just about what happened and why men end up not calling, but also what part you played in it all.

If you've never heard of some of the lessons in this e-book, that's okay. They don't teach these lessons in school. These are lessons most women learn the hard way, through trial-and-error in the dating game.

But with this e-book in your hands, you can learn all the lessons ... without the painful trial-and-error part!

Summary - Secret #1

Not knowing why he didn't call is one of the worst feelings in the dating game, but it is a feeling that the more you learn to deal with, the less it will hurt you. Nobody is born knowing how to date; we learn how to do it and have to learn how to do it well.

2 The 3 Worst Things To Feel

There are three bad emotions that rise to the surface when we are left wondering why someone we thought was interested in us hasn't followed through to call for a date. We feel fear, insecurity and worry. We worry that we have lost him even before we get to know him. We feel like we have lost our chance.

Fear – the constant thought that you are going to get hurt will stop you from even trying. Fear can a good thing to feel; it helps keep us safe. But fear's not good when there's nothing to be afraid of.

Don't be held back by fear – learn to live fearlessly.

Insecurity – that nagging thought that he will feel that we are “not good” or “not pretty” enough. You can ruin a perfectly wonderful date by worrying that everything you do or say will make him run. And you know what? He'll pick up on your feelings, and he WILL run.

Learn how to let go of the insecurities, and let him pick up on the POSITIVE emotions instead.

Worry – when you worry about everything (“Why did he do this? Why isn’t he calling? Am I doing the right thing?” and so on), you end up standing still, frozen, barely breathing: You have stopped living. Get rid of the worry! You've missed too many chances at happiness already – it's time to stand up and take control of your dating life.

Summary - Secret #2

Fear, insecurity and worry will ruin your chances to date long enough to create a good relationship. All those emotions come from internal issues, not from what is happening around us: Learn to let them go and become free.

3 Get A Grip!

Unless you learn how to control your thoughts and emotions, you'll go through fear, insecurity, worry and other exhausting negative feelings every time you date. Starting a relationship, or even exploring the possibility of starting a relationship with someone, won't work well if you're coming from a fearful and insecure place.

Get a grip!

The bad things that go on inside your head can ruin a good date. We can drive ourselves into the ground with worry and trying to figure out reasons why he did something. Stop it!

As you read this book, you'll learn how to let go. And you'll learn just how important it is to gain control of yourself. Don't skip the case studies: They are stories about women who have done it right and wrong. You can learn a lot from them.

Summary - Secret #3

Learning not to be at the mercy of your emotions can get rid of a lot of pain, drama and worry in your life. It can make dating fun and exciting again, and it won't matter if the date works out or not.

4 Become The One In Charge

You need to become the one in charge. Dating is not some open-ended, free-form kind of party. It has rules and you are the one who has to set them.

You are going to set rules not just for what behavior you will accept from a guy, but for yourself too. No more locking yourself away and getting all boo-hoo about some guy who stopped calling after three days. You'll learn how to see things as they really are.

Once you can do that, you will become the master of yourself. You will be the one who is in control of your emotions. Your emotions will not control you and that's a great feeling. Emotional control reduces fear and stress during dating, because you will no longer worry that if it doesn't work out, you will get hurt in the end. You may be a little disappointed but you will get right back up and keep going.

If you set the rules and define what is acceptable from a guy, you will know sooner if he is the right one. You will finally be able to stop wasting your time on the jerks who are only looking to be entertained.

Summary - Secret #4

Take charge. Learn to set the rules and define what is OK, both for him and for you.

5 How This Book Will Help

This e-book will show you how to interpret what is going on between you and your interest, how to react when a man doesn't call, and how you can inspire and encourage him to call often.

Most of all, this e-book is going to give you the tools you need to get yourself out of the kind of back-and-forth thinking that keeps you trapped in a fearful and insecure place when it comes to dating.

Most of the drama and pain that occurs when we start dating comes from within ourselves. When we don't know when to let go or don't know how to notice whether or not a man is interested, we start filling in the blanks with our own wild thoughts. This isn't good, but we all have this common experience.

By the time you have finished reading this book, you will have a whole new outlook, as well as understanding and skills, to stop driving yourself crazy. You'll know what is going on when he does certain things and be able to control the situation. You will also learn what it means to be able to choose what you will accept in a relationship.

Summary - Secret #5

This book is half a manual on changing how you react to dating and half a guide on helping you to recognize the right guy to date.

6 You Can Do This!

Don't worry. You may not fully understand what the differences between men and women are when it comes to communication and dating, but that is what this book is all about. It will show you not only what these differences are, but to tell you how to handle them so you don't lose your mind.

A man will drive you crazy unless you understand how men communicate and how to respond to that communication appropriately. Learn how to get him to call you, text you, chase you, and love you by clicking the link below:
